

Klickitat PUD Hires New IT Assistant

By Lori K. Froehlich

Chris Evans' first day of work at Klickitat PUD (KPUD) was September 1. He fills the position of IT assistant, a job requiring a high level of technical leadership to deliver efficient and reliable technology solutions cost effectively and securely to meet KPUD's service objectives.

Chris will be the primary contact for technical support for KPUD employees.

Chris' previous employer was GSI, where he was the network and database manager for the Texas company. He was employed there for seven years and also held the positions of onsite IT, advanced user support specialist, network and support specialist, and field network engineer.

Chris is excited about his new position. He is enthusiastic about moving his family back where he was raised and graduated from high school.

Chris Evans

Chris has three children: a girl in fourth grade and two boys—one in second grade and one in first grade.

When he is not working or helping with homework, Chris enjoys programming computers, working on older automobiles and motors, and microelectronics.

Congratulations and welcome to the KPUD team, Chris. ■
