Electrical Safety Month

Throughout May, Klickitat PUD is joining with the Electrical Safety Foundation International to kick off its annual effort to increase awareness of electrical safety.

Awareness and education are critical to reduce the incidence of electrical fires. ESFI sponsors National Electrical Safety Month each May to educate the public with the aim to reduce the number of electrically related fires, fatalities, injuries and property loss.

Did you know nearly half of our nation's housing stock was built before 1970? At that time, we put significantly less stress on our electrical systems. This year's campaign encourages consumers to make sure their homes can handle the demand they put on their electrical system to reduce potential hazards.

Electrical safety awareness and education among consumers, families, employees and communities will prevent electrical fires, injuries and fatalities. Education is the key to protecting your community from preventable electrical fires, injuries and fatalities. Together we can help keep others safe.

Visit www.esfi.org today. Whether you want to educate a loved one or raise awareness in your community, school or workplace, we provide step-by-step instructions on how to be an electrical safety advocate and help champion ESFI's cause of minimizing electrically related deaths and injuries.

There is an open house in both the Goldendale and White Salmon PUD offices Friday, May 6, to celebrate National Electrical Safety Month. Stop by one of the offices for free refreshments and handouts. ■

Keep those you care about safe. Take advantage of your KPUD's knowledge this Electrical Safety Month.
